Contents

Section 1: Bartholin Cystectomy

1. Introduction 3

Greater Vestibular or Bartholin Glands 3
Bartholin Gland Duct Cyst and Abscess 3
Pathophysiology 3
Clinical Features 4
Diagnosis 4
Treatment 4

2. Bartholinectomy 5

Preoperative 5
Consent 5
Patient Preparation 5
Intraoperative 6
Surgical Steps 6
Postoperative 7

3. Bartholin Gland Duct—Incision and Drainage 8

Preoperative 8
Consent 8
Intraoperative 8
Instruments 8
Surgical steps 8
Postoperative 9

4. Marsupialisation 10

Preoperative 10
Consent 10
Intraoperative 10
Surgical Steps 10
Postoperative 11

5. Operative Technique: Bartholinectomy 12

6. Postoperative Complications 45
Postoperative Haematoma Formation 45
Other Complications 45

Section 2: Marsupialisation

7. Introduction 49
Gland/Cyst Marsupialisation 49
Physiologic Changes 49
Advantages 49
Disadvantages 49
Preoperative Preparation 49
Anaesthesia and Position on Operation Theatre Table 49
8. Operative Technique: Marsupialisation 50
9. Postoperative Care 65
Complications 65
Postoperative Care 65
Follow-Up 65

Section 3: Labial Fusion

10. Introduction 69
Synonym 69
Labial Fusion 69
Prevalence 70
Etiopathogenesis 70
Pathogenesis 70
Trauma 70
Clinical Features 71
Genitourinary 71
Complications 71
Physical Examination 71
Investigations 71
Urine 71
Imaging Studies 71
Differential Diagnosis 72
Prognosis 72

Management 72
Medical Care 72
Manual Separation/Lysis 72
Surgical Care 72

11. Preoperative Evaluation 73
Physiologic Changes 73
Points of Caution 73

12. Operative Technique: Labial Fusion 74

Section 4: Labial Cystectomy

13. Vulval Cyst 81
Introduction 81
Mucinous Cysts 81

14. Operative Technique: Vulval Cyst 82

Section 5: Labial Polyp

15. Introduction 145

16. Operative Technique: Labial Polypectomy 146

Section 6: Labial Hypertrophy

17. Labial Hypertrophy 165
Introduction 165
Surgical Anatomy of the Vulva 165
The Vulvo-Vaginal Complex 165
Composition 165
Aetiology 166
Diagnosis 166
Symptoms of Labial Hypertrophy 167
Labial Reduction Surgery 168
Indications of Labial Reduction Surgery 168
Over-Sized Labia 168
Sexual Reassignment 169

Surgical Procedures 169
Preoperative Matters 169
Operative Techniques 170
General 170
Techniques for Labial Reduction 170
Postoperative Matters 172
Convalescence 172
Follow-Up Therapy 172
Risks and Complications In Labial Reduction Surgery 172
Success of Labial Reduction Surgery 173

18. Excision of a Hypertrophied Labial Hypertrophy 174

Index 217

